Changes from MAST Part 2 to MAST POE:

For my MAST POE, I have added a new page called book history that will show the last 3 books read by the user. When the user hovers over a book cover, the app will show the user the number of pages read and what genre the book is. I also added a genre page that will allow the user to see the number of books read for each genre listed. My home screen will display the number of pages read in total across all genres. The home page will also show the information regarding the last book read by the user. All of these things were not in part 2. Part 2 consisted of one page which allowed the user to enter the information of the book they read. This same information was then displayed back to them on the same page.
